

Part I Case study

Conservation Approach that meets Community

Community driven approaches and impact on Conservation

Some examples from community driven approaches impact

Resource governance and community cohesion

MPA community performs better in terms in alternative income generation

Conservation impact of community driven approaches

Strengthening resource governance at all levels and reviving of traditional knowledge

PAUNAGISU, VANUATU - Pig Killing Ceremony marking the launching of the management plan and erecting the “namele” (Palm) leave as taboo sign over the fishing ground

Solomon Islands

Marau Sound – One of the worst affected during the tension now communities have established LMMAs as tool to improve livelihood, build trust and community cohesion

FLMMA contribution to support government Fisheries 2005- 2007 Corporate plan

KRA: Objectives and Strategies	FLMMA work and status
KRA # 4 : Fisheries Research Obj: GIS 1. Qoliqoli survey database and mapping	Existing FLMMA database to contribute to the Qoliqoli survey database (Mr James Comely a science advisor hired by IAS and FLMMA to work with Fisheries on MRI survey)
Obj: Giant Clam Research 4. Reseeding MPAs	Assist in identifying the targeted MPAs, assist in transportation cost and help monitor reseeded clams (ongoing)