Strengthening Pacific International Climate Change Engagement (SPICE)

1. INTRODUCTION
In the Kainaki II Declaration for Urgent Climate Change Action Now, Pacific Leaders recognised the implications of the climate change crisis facing our Pacific Island Nations. Pacific Leaders committed to work together, with a collective vision, to pursue bold climate change action, including in international climate change negotiations and through the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC).

The Pacific has played an active and prominent role in securing ambitious outcomes in international climate change negotiations. While the Pacific are committed to pursuing bold climate change action through international climate change negotiations and the UNFCCC, several hurdles impact their ability to achieve effective outcomes.

Pacific Island Countries have smaller and less resourced civil services than those they are often seeking to influence. In order to be effective, the Pacific needs to be highly skilled with a toolkit of techniques and capabilities at their disposal. To be influential in international climate change negotiations, the Pacific also requires strong networks with which to share resources and amplify their voices.

The Secretariat of the Pacific Regional Environment Programme (SPREP) has established strong and trusted working relationships with partners in the region. SPREP works closely with all its Members, which consists of its twenty-one Pacific Island Member Countries and Territories and five Metropolitan Member Countries.

SPREP leads the One CROP in the Pacific which supports Pacific engagement in UNFCCC negotiations and international climate change meetings. The One CROP team consists of Pacific regional agencies namely: Forum Fisheries Agency (FFA), Pacific Community (SPC), Pacific Island Development Program (PIDP), Pacific Island Forum Secretariat (PIFS) and the University of the South Pacific (USP).

SPREP has received funding from the Government of Australia through the Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade (DFAT) to support the implementation of the project “Strengthening Pacific Leadership in International Climate Change Engagement”.

This project aims to respond to ongoing capacity building needs in the region for engagement in international climate change negotiations. This will enable the Pacific to deepen and strengthen their engagement in the UNFCCC process, to help secure priority outcomes for Pacific Small Island Developing States (PSIDS).

2. OBJECTIVE
The Pacific is provided with knowledge and information, skillsets, and tools to effectively engage and influence outcomes of international climate change meetings consistent with regional objectives and priorities.

3. SCOPE OF WORK
Strengthening Pacific leadership in international climate change negotiations focusses on the following specific areas:
  1. Pacific are equipped for international climate change meetings through preparatory work and negotiations support.
  2. Pacific can amplify their region's perspective at international climate change meetings through communications and advocacy support.
  3. Pacific can progress loss and damage objectives at international climate change meetings through strategic engagement.
The Consultant will execute the following outputs and activities in support of and in collaboration with the Climate Change Resilience Programme of SPREP to achieve the objective of the project.

Output 1.1: Pacific are coordinated on negotiating objectives and approaches at international climate change meetings through preparatory and debrief workshops:

- Undertake research on relevant thematic priorities for negotiations at COP29, and COP30 including analysis of submissions by negotiating blocs, individual Party(s) and Non-Party Stakeholders, and literature relevant to these issues in preparation and presentations during Pre-COP meetings.
- Develop concept notes including agenda for two annual PSIDS pre-COP (for COP29 and 30) preparatory meetings.
- In collaboration with SPREP, plan and facilitate two annual PSIDS pre-COP (COP29 & 30) preparatory meetings.
- Assist SPREP and PSIDS negotiators in developing and presenting on relevant issues for each of the sessions of the pre-COP meetings.
- Develop two pre-COP (for COP29 and 30) meeting reports articulating thematic priorities and outlining participants and activities.
- Develop technical briefs on relevant PSIDS thematic priorities in collaboration with SPREP as requested, including input into other supporting products to assist PSIDS negotiators and Pacific Political Champions with their engagement at COP29 and COP30.
- Provide on-site support and technical advice at the COPs (29 & 30) including development of interventions, briefing papers, and talking points based on requests.
- Develop reports on the outcomes of COP29 and COP30 including an analysis of these outcomes.
- Develop concept notes, including agenda, for two annual PSIDS Post-COP analysis workshops (for COP29 and COP30).
- Assist SPREP in planning and facilitating the virtual PSIDS post-COP29 analysis workshop.
- Assist SPREP in planning and facilitating the in-person (in the Pacific) PSIDS post-COP30 analysis workshop.
- Develop the PSIDS Post COP29 and COP30 Analysis Workshop reports to include outcomes and implications on thematic priorities for subsequent Subsidiary Body for Scientific and Technological Advice (SBSTA) and Subsidiary Body for Implementation (SBI) Sessions as well as lessons learned from the previous COP.

Output 1.2: Pacific have the tools and capabilities to engage effectively at international climate change meetings through technical briefing and negotiation support:

- Undertake research, review, and analysis of literature upon request on key PSIDS thematic priorities to support preparations and presentations at virtual preparatory meetings for SBSTA and SBI sessions in 2025 and 2026 and in-depth thematic analysis sessions before pre-COP29 and pre-COP30.
- Develop concept notes, including agenda, for preparatory meetings for SBSTA and SBI sessions in 2025 and 2026 and in-depth thematic analysis sessions (approximately 16 sessions - 8 sessions per COP), before pre-COP29 and pre-COP30.
- Assist SPREP to plan and facilitate virtual sessions on PSIDS thematic priorities in preparation for SBSTA and SBI in 2025 and 2026, as well as in-depth thematic analysis sessions before Pre-COP29 & Pre-COP30 meetings.
- Provide inputs to submissions on relevant PSIDS thematic priorities that countries can submit as an individual Party or as a collective through the PSIDS Chair or as a collective through submission by the Alliance of Small Islands States (AOSIS).
- Develop the technical briefs for the SBSTA and SBI sessions in 2025 and 2026 as requested.
- Develop report on the outcomes of June 2025 and June 2026 SBSTA and SBI session.

Output 3.1: Pacific develop a common understanding of losses and damages through improved coordination and a regular regional dialogue:

- Plan and develop a concept note, including agenda, for a second Pacific Regional dialogue on Loss and Damage in 2025.
