B. The Pacific Ocean Litter Project

Marine litter is a pressing environmental, health and economic development problem for Pacific island countries. Plastic pollution in particular, threatens the livelihoods of Pacific island communities that are dependent on coastal systems for food, trade and tourism. Plastics adversely affect fish and other marine life, coral reefs, beaches and mangrove forests, and devalues the amenity of coastlines, threatening the growing tourism sector.

At the 2017 and 2018 Pacific Island Forum leaders' meetings, Pacific leaders committed to addressing the issue of single-use plastics as a matter of urgency and endorsed SPREP's Pacific Regional Action Plan for Marine Litter (or simply the 'Marine Litter Action Plan').

Many Pacific countries have already commenced or announced plastic reduction initiatives such as plastic bag bans or levies, plastic straw and polystyrene take away container bans and container deposit levies. These initiatives emphasise the Pacific region's strong commitment to address marine plastic pollution.

Project Inception

The Australian-funded Pacific Ocean Litter Project was borne from the Australian Government's desire to assist SPREP and Pacific island countries (PICs) with the implementation of agreed actions under the Marine Litter Action Plan, and forms part of broader Australian Government support for sustainable oceans in the Pacific.

POLP is funded by the Australian Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade (DFAT) through the Australian Aid Program and is administered on behalf of the Australian Government by the Department of Agriculture, Water and the Environment (DAWE) under a grant arrangement with SPREP as the regional implementing partner.

Preliminary design work for the Project commenced in March 2019 and included representatives from SPREP, other Pacific donors and officers from the Australian Department of Agriculture, Water and the Environment. The design initially addressed key marine litter threats and proposed actions identified through the Marine Litter Action Plan under the original four-year, AUD 8 million funding commitment by the Australian Government. In July 2019 Australia expanded this commitment to support a six-year, AUD 16 million project investment.

Given the enthusiasm with which PICs have embraced this issue, the Australian Government's funding commitment under POLP represents a timely investment for the provision of much needed technical support, capacity building assistance and resources to implement plastic reduction measures.

Project - Long-term outcome

The long-term outcome of the Project is:

'Decreased marine litter within the coastal environments of Pacific island countries by reducing the availability of select categories of problematic single-use plastics from household and tourism sources (i.e. plastic bags, polystyrene, straws, PET bottles and other products)'

Project - Intermediate outcomes

The Project has been designed to deliver support to Pacific island countries through an integrated approach addressing legislation, policy and planning, increasing consumer awareness and changing behaviour, working closely with industry groups and small businesses and by identifying and providing information about sustainable alternative products and practices.

Consequently, the five intermediate outcomes which will guide project investment are:

1. Legislated or voluntary single-use plastic bans, levies and other instruments are adopted/ resourced / implemented.
2. Local and visiting consumers (women, men, girls and boys) are using less single-use plastics and more alternative products.
3. Target sectors, companies and businesses adopt plastic reduction measures.
4. Alternative products and practices are identified for adoption; and
5. SPREP, as the regional lead agency, is successfully driving implementation of the Marine Litter Action Plan.

Project – Geographic focus

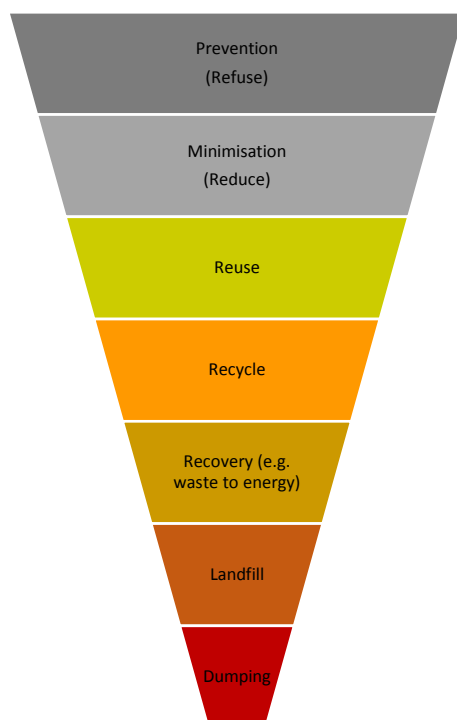

Project funding will provide support, advice and assistance for the Pacific island countries of Cook Islands, Federated States of Micronesia, Fiji, Kiribati, Nauru, Niue, Palau, Papua New Guinea, Republic of the Marshall Islands, Samoa, Solomon Islands, Tonga, Tuvalu and Vanuatu. These countries will derive benefit either by direct support for domestic single-use plastic reduction activities or through regional Project initiatives, shared learning / outcomes and 'best practice' examples which emerge through Project actions delivered in counterpart Pacific nations.

Project – Environmental Threat focus

POLP will work to reduce the volume of single-use plastics ending up as marine litter in Pacific coastal environments by focussing on reducing single-use plastics from land-based sources, primarily from household and tourism industry litter, including:

- Plastic bags;
- Polystyrene take-away food packaging;
- Disposable plastic cutlery, plates & cups;
- Plastic straws; and
- PET bottles.

The Marine Litter Plan outlines a hierarchy of waste management actions (drawn from the UN's Environment Programme). POLP activities will primarily address the 'Refuse' and 'Reduce' actions:

Project – Pacific Donor Coordination and Engagement

In order to maximise the outcomes for individual Pacific nations and the region, the Project will also act on behalf of SPREP to coordinate and facilitate partnerships with government agencies, donors, partners, industry and community groups to focus on reducing the primary sources of marine plastic litter under the framework of the Marine Litter Action Plan.

The skills and expertise of the Project team will complement other donor-funded waste programmes, especially those that have links with marine plastic pollution. The Project has been designed to enable other donors to invest and scale up the Project geographically - or by directing support to any of the Marine Litter Action Plan's recommended actions which are currently beyond the scope of the POLP.

Project – Implementation team

The Australian Government's investment in POLP includes funding for SPREP to establish a Marine Litter team to implement the POLP, and coordinate similar initiatives across the region. The team will include:

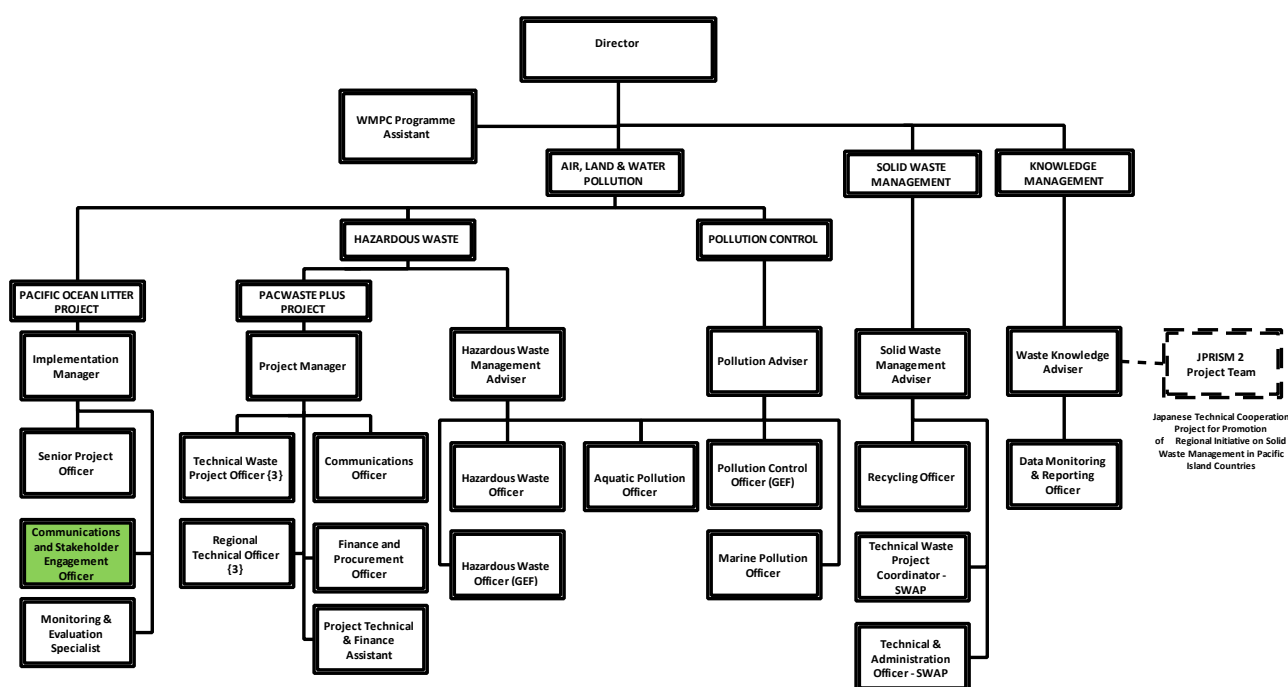

- A Senior Project Officer;
- A Communications and Stakeholder Engagement Officer (this recruitment); and
- A Monitoring and Evaluation specialist.

The Australian Government have also supported the 3 - 4 year deployment of an officer from the Department of Agriculture, Water and the Environment as the seconded 'Implementation Manager' to lead the Project and manage the Marine Litter team.
